The Maple Leaf

Volume XXVII

1932

Published by the

Junior and Senior Classes of Goshen College

Goshen, Indiana

edication

To our Mennonite Forefathers, whose faith and devotion to God led them through suffering, and whose loyalty caused them to give their lives for the truth, we dedicate this Maple Leaf.

orrowd

May this volume of the Maple Leaf serve to record the experiences of our college life
and to instill a deeper appreciation of our Alma Mater and her heritage.

Art Theme

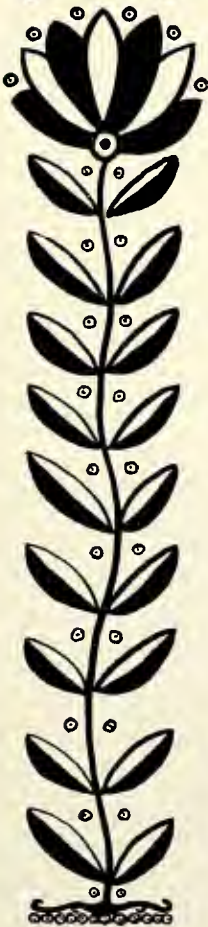

Characteristic art motifs and symbols of the Pennsylvania Germans, whose rich traditions Goshen College shares through its historic Mennonite heritage, fittingly furnish the inspiration for the art theme of this Maple Leaf.

SANFORD CALVIN YODER, B. A., LL. B.

Iowa State University, Hamilton College of Law

President

"This is a day when our social and political organizations are shaken to their foundations. Many of the things that in the past engaged the attention and challenged the admiration of men have been entirely swept away or their value greatly reduced. This was possible only because they were material and perishable. In making adjustments to meet the situation, men must needs seek a new anchorage and new objects and ideals upon which to bestow their devotions and lavish their affections. This brings to all Christian men and women the opportunity of restating in terms of our present need the things that abide. Confidence in a sovereign God and the fount of a living faith lends an enduring hope that will span the valleys of depression and dissipate the gloom of disappointment through which those whose hearts are set on earthly things must periodically pass. To build such a hope into life and character, together with a will to hand it on to others, is the opportunity and should be the purpose of every Christian College. To this cause our Alma Mater is dedicated and with this purpose she charges her sons and daughters as they leave her portals to enter upon life's activities in the fields of usefulness wherein their Maker calls them to labor."

—Sanford Calvin Yoder.

HAROLD STAUFFER BENDER, M. A., B. D., Th. M.

Princeton University and Seminary, Garrett Biblical Institute, Universities of Tuebingen and Heidelberg, Germany

Acting Dean, Head of the Bible Department

"I have a deep conviction that Goshen College has an unusual place to fill in the educational world and that she cannot, therefore, be classified as 'just one of the small colleges of the United States.' We are definitely committed at Goshen to a program of Christian education with all the richness and depth which that term includes. We are fundamentally out of sympathy with a secularized education and the type of living which it tends to produce. The life which we seek to foster at Goshen College is one which is characterized by Christian spirituality, which is the fruit of the power of the indwelling Spirit of God, which is motivated by the ethical insight of Jesus Christ, and which has as its world-view a philosophy based upon the Christian revelation. That the currents of modern life seem at times to counter such a program is of little concern to us except to deepen the sense of challenge with which the Christian has always faced the world. We will not surrender our ideals in times like these: we will carry on with faith."

—Harold S. Bender.

GUY FRANKLIN HERSHBERGER,
M. A.

History, Dean of Men and Secretary of the College

Professor Hershberger was graduated from Hesston College, received the M. A. degree from the University of Iowa, and since has done graduate work at the University of Chicago. He is a member of the American Historical Society. He was on leave of absence during the second semester.

SILAS HERTZLER, Ph. D.

Education and Psychology, Registrar and Director of the Summer Session

Since receiving his B. A. degree from Goshen College in 1913, Dr. Hertzler has received the B. D. degree from the Yale Divinity School, M. A., from Teachers' College, Columbia, and the Ph. D. degree from Yale University. He holds memberships in the American Educational Research Society, National Society of College Teachers of Education, and the National Society for the Study of Education.

GUSTAV H. ENSS, Th. M.

Philosophy and German

Professor Enss received much of his training in Russia and in Germany. He received the Th. M. degree from the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in 1929. He has also studied at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, the Universities of Kansas and Chicago, and at Northwestern University. Professor Enss is a charter member of the Indiana Philosophical Association.

DANIEL A. LEHMAN, M. A.

Mathematics and Astronomy

Professor Lehman has been at Goshen College since 1906. He received the B. S. degree from Millersville State Normal, the Ph. B. degree from Wesleyan University, Connecticut, and the M. A. from Western Reserve University. He has studied at the Lick Observatory, the Universities of Chicago, Columbia, Michigan and Colorado. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Mathematical Association of America in which he was elected to a fellowship, and the Central Association of Science and Mathematics Teachers. At college he received honors in mathematics and in general scholarship.

SAMUEL W. WITMER, M. A.

Biological Science

Professor Witmer is another alumnus of Goshen College, having received the B. A. degree here in 1914. The following year he received the M. A. from the University of Wisconsin, after which he returned to his Alma Mater to become head of the Biology Department, in which capacity he has served ever since. He has meanwhile done graduate study at the Universities of Illinois, Chicago, and Wisconsin. Professor Witmer is also a member of several professional organizations, among them being the Indiana Academy of Science, the American Ornithologists Union, the Botanical Society of America, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

JOHN SYLVANUS UMBLE, M. A.

English

Professor Umble was a student of Goshen College at the time of its infancy. He received his degrees, both the B. A., and M. A. from Northwestern University, however. He has also studied at the University of Chicago, and has travelled in Europe as a student. He is head of the English Department and Chairman of the Committee on Debate and Oratory, and as such is our Debate Coach.

GLEN R. MILLER, Ph. D.

Physical Science

Dr. Miller received his B. A. degree from Hesston College in 1924. From the State University of Iowa he has received both the M. S. and Ph. D. degrees. For a number of years he has been head of the Department of Physical Sciences. He is a member of the American Chemical Society.

ROLAND YODER, Ph. B.

Economics and Commerce

After spending three years at Goshen College, Professor Yoder studied at the University of Chicago where he took the Ph. B. degree. The following year he was a graduate student at Chicago and Research Assistant in the College of Commerce and Administration. He is Director of Student Employment and a member of the Managing Committee.

WILLARD HARVEY SMITH, M. A.

History and Political Science

Professor Smith is also an alumnus of Goshen College. Since receiving the M. A. degree from the University of Michigan, he has done graduate study at the Universities of Chicago and Michigan. He is a member of the Indiana Historical Society and the American Historical Association. Since the beginning of the second semester he has been Dean of Men.

WALTER E. YODER

Music

This is Mr. Yoder's first year as instructor of Music and Voice at Goshen College. He, too, is an alumnus, having been graduated from the Goshen College School of Music in 1913. He has attended the Bradley College of Music, and was a student of John D. Brunk, G. Calvin Riggerberg, Lucinda Munroe Burhans, and E. Warren K. Howe.

FYRNE ANNA MILLER, B. S.

Home Economics

Miss Miller received her B. S. degree from Goshen College in 1930. Since then she has spent the summers in graduate study at the University of Iowa. She has been instructor in the Home Economics Department since 1930.

U. GRANT WEAVER, B. S.

Elementary Education, Principal of the Academy

Professor Weaver received the B. S. degree from the University of Pittsburgh and has studied at the Carnegie Institute of Technology. He is now a candidate for the M. A. degree at the University of Colorado.

LYDIA FRANCES SHENK, B. S.

French

Miss Shenk took her degree from the University of Virginia, and has attended the University of Pennsylvania as a graduate student. She has taught French here since 1930.

KATIE YODER

Matron of Kulp Hall

As our matron, Miss Yoder is well-known by the inmates of both Kulp Hall and Coffman Hall. Her friendliness and kindly care have done much to make dormitory life pleasant.

NOBLE KREIDER

Piano

Mr. Kreider has studied abroad in London, Berlin and Paris, as a pupil of Clarence Forsyth. He is a concert pianist, and well-known as a composer of piano music, being one of the leading musicians in this part of the country.

AMY EVELYN (MRS.) ENSS

German

Mrs. Enss is a graduate of the College of Preceptors, London, and has studied at the Sheffield School of Art. She has also taught in South Russia.

ARTHUR SPRUNGER, B. A.

Art

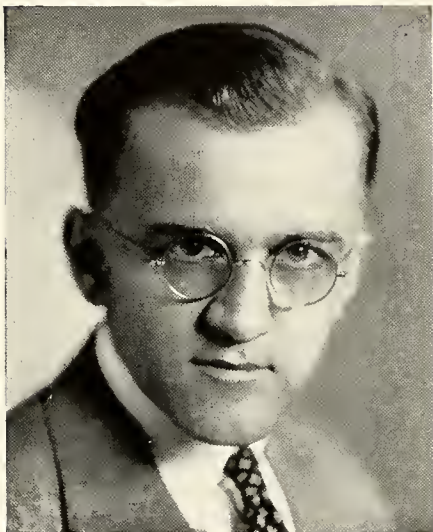

Professor Sprunger was graduated from Goshen College in 1922, and since then has studied at the Chicago Art Institute, spent three summers at the John Herron Art Institute with William Forsythe, and was a student with Karl Krafft. In 1931 he received the Lawrence A. Downs Prize at the Hoosier Salon in Chicago for a fine industrial painting.

SAMUEL ALVIN YODER, M. A

English

Since his graduation from Goshen College in 1928, Professor Yoder has received the M. A. degree from Harvard University. Since the beginning of the second semester of this school year he has been doing graduate study at the University of Michigan.

EZRA JOHN CAMP, B. A.

Mathematics

Mr. Camp, an alumnus of Goshen College, continued his studies at Harvard University and after two years of teaching at Goshen College is now absent on leave for graduate study at the University of Chicago.

VERNA GRABER (MRS.) SMITH,
B. A.

Latin

Mrs. Smith was graduated from Goshen College in 1928, and since then has done graduate work at the University of Iowa. She teaches Latin in the College and the Academy.

ELIZABETH HORSCH (MRS.)
BENDER, B. A.

Mathematics and German

Mrs. Bender graduated from Goshen College and continued her studies at Pennsylvania State College. She teaches in the Academy, and also College Algebra.

OLIVE GERTRUDE WYSE, B. A.

Physical Education and English

Miss Wyse took the B. A. degree from Goshen College in 1926 and since has studied at the State University of Iowa. For several years she has been in charge of women's physical education in the College in addition to teaching English in the Academy.

BARBARA COFFMAN, B. A.

Assistant Librarian

Miss Coffman received her B. A. from Goshen College last year. Her preparation at the McGill University Library School, during the summer of 1929, finds practical application in her work as Assistant Librarian. She is also Librarian for the Student Library Association.

SANA TROYER (MRS.) WITMER,
B. A.

Biological Science

Mrs. Witmer graduated from Goshen College in 1914 and has since attended the Colorado State College.

The Class of '32

NIEMANN BRUNK	President
ROBERT BENDER	Vice President
DOROTHY SMITH	Secretary
MERLE HARTZLER	Treasurer

Our college life is finished. The last day of our seniorhood has come. Before we leave, however, let us look back over the four years just passed. Only nine of the thirty-three members of our present class were also members of that Freshman Class of sixty-eight men and women in September, 1928. As Sophomores we numbered forty, but as Juniors we were reduced to twenty-seven members, only eight of whom were women. The lures of Seniorhood, however, brought us recruits so that we have more graduates than the classes just preceding.

Our president, Niemann Brunk, having served us ably throughout the four years, has made possible a continuity of purposes and interests which would have been impossible otherwise, especially since we were unfortunate in losing our sponsor several times. Professor Cressman, during our first two years, gave efficient assistance, being especially remembered as our debate coach. When he was unable to return we chose Professor Samuel Yoder, whose recent career as a student made him a sympathetic advisor. Because of Professor Yoder's absence, Professor Enss, whose geniality and good will had won our admiration, was asked to finish the Senior year with us.

We have always been greatly interested in debate. Both interclass and inter-collegiate debating have had our loyal support. Although success did not always come our way, neither did failure characterize our efforts. Basket ball and other athletics also claimed our support, at which we attained a reasonable amount of success.

Our class has been distinguished by its religious interests. Not only have we participated in Y. P. C. A. work, Christian Worker's Band, Mission S. S., and had a number of foreign volunteers for mission work, but we have had a number of ministers of the Gospel in our group, three of which graduate with us. There has been a definite interest in spiritual things and the events we will remember longest have been of that nature.

As we look back we recall a number of other outstanding incidents which time cannot erase: the memorable week when we Sophomore women won both the season's basket ball tournament and the debate; the attempted retaliation of the Freshmen when we celebrated our victories; the end of the first six weeks of our Freshman year; the night we won our first debate; the Seniors' sneak day when we were Juniors; our own sneak day; our first Freshman party; when we sponsored a Freshman class ourselves; the parties at Alta Housour's home; our final parties, as Freshmen at Bonnevillie Mill, as Sophs at Rome City, and as Juniors at Christiana Lake; the day we received the emblems and actually became Seniors; when Nase, Beechy and Warstler reenforced our basket ball squad; the Senior women's basket ball season; our class reunions at Home-Coming; the cushion episode and our retaliation; our class breakfast at Professor Enss's home—memories come in an overwhelming flood.

The first four years of our existence as the Class of '32 have been interesting and inspiring. Our experiences have made Goshen College our college in a vital way. We have had our share of prominent figures on the campus, we have made our contribution, and without regret we turn the duties, with the opportunities of the Senior class, over to the class that follows. Our active life on the campus is at an end, yet the Class of '32 lives on! It cannot die! As we give our service in other fields the friendships and ideals which we gained here will go with us and be our guiding principle.

Immediately we think of a very efficient and lucid debater. He served as an able class president four years, and as editor of the College Record. Industrious, precise, courteous, dignified and possessing a fine aesthetic sense.

Metamora, Illinois

English, History

Avon, Vice President III, President IV; French Club III, IV, Secretary IV; Basket Ball; Record Staff IV; Audubon Society IV; Ski Club III, IV; Mennonite Historical Society I; Illinois State Normal University II.

Although she is not a "Home Ec." student, Erma has a wealth of ideas for dainty menus and successful parties. Jolly good fun is a prominent ingredient of her character, but she has a time for work. She is a conscientious student and her success as a teacher is established. Music, and especially piano, is her hobby.

Alta is worth her weight in gold. Quiet and reserved, but always a spark of fun for the right moment. Alta's talent for leadership has been shown in the splendid way in which she assumed her duties as president of the Y. W. C. A. Her interests are not confined to this country. She looks to foreign countries with a great deal of anticipation for her future work. Her loyal Christian character will be a blessing to many near and far.

A profound thinker who is cautious at every step, come what may James is always calm and unruffled, proceeding with ample poise. A man of deep convictions, he has sought to lead the religious life of the campus into a richer and deeper experience. His talent for leadership has been shown by the fine way in which he has led the Y. P. C. A. this year.

EMMA ROHRER, B. S.

Smithville, Ohio

Home Economics, English

Avon, Vice President IV, President IV; Home Economics Club III, President IV; Mennonite Historical Society III, IV; Audubon Society IV; Record Staff; Wooster College I; Kent State College II.

Emma has a good car and a kind heart, a combination from which every girl has benefitted. Her experience and ability give her a fund of information and ideas which are useful in nearly any field. Her active interest in the Mission Sunday School indicates her fine Christian character.

TITUS M. BOOKS, B. A.

Cleona, Pennsylvania

History, English

Adelphian; Lebanon Valley College II, III; Goshen College I, IV.

Pep, ambition and industriousness are bound up in Titus. His keen sense of humor and his deeply religious nature make him a great asset to the Senior class.

Doylestown, Pennsylvania

History, English

Vesperian, Secretary III, Vice President IV; Millersville State Teachers' College I, II; A Cappella Chorus IV; Ladies' Chorus IV; Audubon Society IV; Mennonite Historical Society.

Very precise and exact, and just as jolly in play as diligent in work. Her personality is characterized by that pep which has impetus enough to see a task through to the end, and to see it completed in a thorough manner.

EVA YEACKLEY, B. A.

Milford, Nebraska

English, German

Avon; Hesston College I, II; Nebraska University III; Ladies' Chorus IV; A Cappella Chorus IV; Basket Ball IV; Audubon Society III, IV; German Club IV; Christian Workers' Band IV.

Calm and deliberate, always willing to lend a hand and very dependable is this lass from the Corn Husker State. Eva believes in giving her best in whatever she undertakes and has won for herself a big place in the hearts of the members of the Senior Class.

SAMUEL S. MILLER, B. S.

Middlebury, Indiana

History, Biological Science

Goshen College I; Manchester College II; Extension work at Indiana University and Indiana State Normal School at Muncie; University of Tennessee, Summer '31.

We regret very much that it was not possible for Sam to be a regular student with us because the occasional contacts which we were privileged to make showed him to be a jolly good sport. We hear he is a successful school teacher and a leader among young people in his community.

ADA S. LAPP, B. A.

Adelphian; Men's Chorus I; A Cappella Chorus I; French Club, President II, III; German Club III; Record Staff III.

A real lover of art, a true musician, and a brilliant student. His capability and musical talent have brought him many opportunities and have won him many friends.

EARL L. SALZMAN, B. A.

Topeka, Indiana

History, English

Witmarsum Theological Seminary '21-'27, Th. B.; Garrett Biblical Institute, Fall Term, '29; Pastor of Topeka Mennonite Church, Topeka, Indiana.

Another one of our ministerial group. His quiet and reserved manner would not betray his profession, but the ease with which he appears before a class to give his reports gives the secret away. His amiability and sincerity have made him a valuable part of our class.

ALICE M. HOUSOUR, B. S.

Elkhart, Indiana

English, Biological Science

Goshen '24, Summer School '31; Winona Normal School, Summer; North Manchester; Teacher in Intermediate Grades.

We are glad to welcome Alice to the class of '32, although she has not spent much time with us. Her congenial personality predicts a successful career as a teacher.

AGNES M. WEAVER, B. S.

Goshen, Indiana

SENIOR CONTEMPLATIONS

*We've reached the end of College road,
So we must turn and wend our way
And find our place in God's great plan
Where we can serve Him best today.*

*It may be but a lowly place
That some of us are called to fill,
But let us serve—no matter where
If we are in our Maker's will.*

*Dear Goshen College, we love you,
Each ivy vine, each flower that grows;
To our motto we will e'er be true
Where e'er our future pathway goes.*

*To our faculty and parents, too
And all who have our lives endued,
For all your sacrifice to us
Accept our heart-felt gratitude.*

*Although we leave these College halls
Our loyal interest will remain;
And we shall ever strive to live
The high ideals we here maintain.*

Ho, hum! At last we are Juniors. It just doesn't seem possible that two years have gone since we arrived as Freshmen in September of '29. Weren't we a class! Ninety new students to trouble everyone, including themselves. And what a time we had getting onto the swing of things! The Juniors were good to us and the first party we had with their help gave us a good chance to get acquainted. Don't you think we did a good job at choosing our motto: "Truth, Loyalty and Service?" And our colors are much to be proud of, too,—purple and gold. James Steiner certainly tackled a big job as our president, but he had just right to be proud when the men carried off the basket ball championship and also the decision of the Sophomore-Freshmen men's debate. After we were acquainted our Hallowe'en party and spring outings were as much fun as ninety Freshmen could make them.

At the beginning of our Sophomore year our number was decreased to nearly half of what it had been, but that did not quench the class spirit. Glenwood Schertz was elected president, and well he deserved to be for he represented our class in the Intercollegiate Debates, besides leading the Sophomore debate team to victory over the Freshman. And the basket ball! Even if we didn't get the championship the teams that came up against us realized that they had to fight. Of course, we had our socials! The steak was never better and I'm sure the suggestions at the Valentine party were gladly taken. Yes, a few left and new ones came during the year, but the ruling aim and spirit was always there.

Now we are part of the upper classmen,—in other words, Juniors! From then on dignity must take place of foolishness and a carefree spirit must bid farewell. Our position as chaperon to the Freshmen was gravely taken and resulted in a party near the dam, with our worthy president, Ross Gerber, as the leader. Some weeks later we, the thirty-two members of the class, had an outing to get acquainted with each other. It went off fine except for the unwelcome visitors, mosquitoes!

Our class was well represented in the intercollegiate debates, and we were justly proud, even if the victories were not many. In basket ball the men gained second place after a hard pull, and the women, aided by Sophomore women, tied with the Seniors for the championship. Many responsible positions were held by the Juniors on the Y. P. C. A. Cabinet, on various staffs, and last but not least, half of the Men's Chorus is composed of Juniors. But our class record would be incomplete without the banquet given for the Seniors. It was a small way in which to show our appreciation to them for their helpfulness, and a renewed effort to establish ourselves worthy to be called loyal Juniors. Even if some of our group will not return we can still heartily say, "Here's to the Juniors!"

Sophomores? Why,——pardon me, Sir, but yes, that is what they call us. Is there anything I can do for you? No sir, we aren't very important, just these Sophomore silk worms you hear about. Our history? Now, that is quite a story and, being just a silk worm, it is hard for me to think, but I believe I remember the time when we all arrived. They had ordered quite a batch, fifty-six in all, as I remember it, and a wriggly bunch we were as we first crawled over the campus.

Being just baby worms we couldn't see very well so Professor Umble undertook to raise and guide us. He had always been interested in the silk industry and met his task with enthusiastic and modern measures. That first year we just grubbed around. Maple Leaves became our main diet, but after six weeks of wild squirming we met in a famous meeting; the "Diet of Worms" it was later called. On this important occasion it was decided that we should adopt red and white carnations as our own special delicacy. Accordingly, these were then added to our former diet of Maple Leaves, and we grew full strong both bodily and intellectually. Our adventures during that first year were many and varied, but so were we, and by the close of the year they were calling us the Basket Ball Champions. No real riots were ever laid at our door; in fact, our big boss said that we were a most peaceful set of young ones, and so we were.

Like true silk worms we crawled far and fast during our first summer, and, sad to say, we did not all find our way back, but we picked up others and when the roll was again called this fall twenty-five were present to answer. We have grown a lot since last year and our development has been rapid.

By the beginning of next year we will all be snugly asleep in the fine silk cocoons which we have been working on all year. Now this may be a secret, so please do not tell anyone, but we overheard our boss talking to one of the authorities, and they are evidently expecting "our set" to produce the best silk Goshen College has ever manufactured and of course they have a right to for we have among us debators, athletes, musicians, and worms of literary ability. We were all thrilled at the news and have been working hard ever since to fulfill their expectations.

There are not many of us this year but then is it not the great things that come in small packages? Now please, sir, do not look worried. It has been great fun to be Sophomores and though we may not be much to look at right now, just give us time. At the close of two more years we expect to leave these silk cocoons behind us and as beautiful and full-fledged Senior butterflies we shall try our wings in the world. We are not afraid to try for our motto leads us ever onward: "Non Scholae Sed Vitae Discimus."

In the fall of the year nineteen hundred and thirty-one a valiant band of over fifty young people settled in the vicinity of Goshen College. They came possessed of the same spirit that motivated their ancestors, a century previously, to leave the old country and to found new homes in the wilderness of Pennsylvania and the Middle West. Their purpose, however, differed from that of their forefathers who sought religious and economic freedom. They came, rather, in search of that mythical spring whence flow the streams of knowledge and wisdom. That fount they found, and also a staff of some twenty learned professors whose duty it was to serve the life-giving waters.

It may be that a few members of this band felt somewhat shy and timorous on this first venture away from their respective abodes, but all fears speedily vanished under the influence of the kind and cordial reception given them, for they found the College already inhabited by other bands, each distinguished by its length of residence. These aided them to become acquainted and to adapt themselves to their new surroundings. With the assistance of several Juniors they held their first party on the evening of September 18 in the forest beside the Elkhart River. Here everyone enjoyed himself playing games and eating delicious refreshments.

In October they assembled themselves in a body, and with the help of the Junior president proceeded to organize. After electing the class leaders they chose for the class colors Azure Blue and Amber, and for the class flower, the Sweet Pea. "Knowledge is Power" became the class motto.

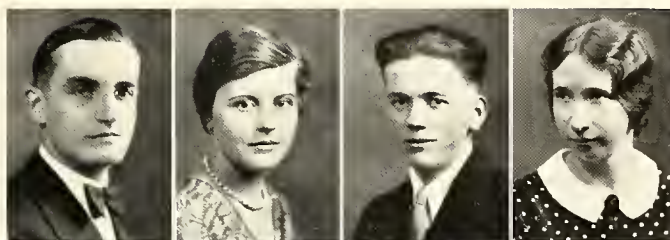

During the year this class proved its prowess by engaging in many friendly combats upon the gymnasium floor. Both a boys' and a girls' basket ball team were formed.

In wordy battles, too, the class won considerable renown. One debating team was formed among the girls, which defeated the Sophomore team, and two teams were formed among boys. Several of our boys served on the inter-collegiate debate teams.

At the end of the first semester the members of this class submitted to a severe test of their scholarly accomplishments and acquitted themselves quite well. As the school year draws to a close the class looks back upon its experiences with a feeling of satisfaction although aspiring to achieve greater things next year.

The work of the Academy the past year has been largely college preparatory, for the majority of the students are planning to enter college as soon as possible. For those who can not continue their education in college, the Academy offers a good opportunity to enjoy the Christian atmosphere of college life and culture.

During the past summer ten were enrolled in Academy courses. At present there are seven seniors, three juniors and one sophomore, and three special students. Their number being too small for effective literary work, the Academy students did not organize the Homeric Society. The inter-society council decided to invite them into membership in the college societies; and as a result four joined the Adelpheans, three the Vesperians, and one the Avons. It is the hope of the administration that the Academy attendance may increase next year as the result of the large reduction in tuition.

The summer for 1931 extended from June 15 to August 15. In addition, this year for the first time in recent years, a few rural school teachers took courses during our spring term, which began on April 29.

Due to the general financial conditions at present the attendance was slightly less than during the summer of 1930, although it was greater than during the summer of 1929.

The registration for the spring term of six weeks was fourteen, while the registration for the summer term of nine weeks was sixty-two. The total, not counting duplicates, was seventy-one. Of this total ten were academy students, leaving sixty-one college students.

The work offered was of the same standard quality as work given during the regular school year. Courses were given in Bible, biological sciences, physical science, economics, education, English, History, mathematics, French, German, psychology, and physical geography. In addition, courses were given for high school students in economics, English, and United States history.

The work of the spring term was given by our regular full-time teachers, except that D. S. Gerig, M. A., of the Goshen High School, taught one course in Education, and that President Yoder taught the course in physical geography. Six separate courses were taught during this term.

During the summer session five full-time instructors were on the teaching staff, with four others who were doing part-time work. In addition to those of the regular faculty for the school year, Mr. O. L. Walter, principal of the Goshen High School, again taught courses in Education; and Ralph Myers, an instructor in the Concord township high school of Elkhart County, and an alumnus of the College, taught several academy courses.

During the summer term the largest classes were in English and History, where the number of students enrolled ranged from five to sixteen. Sixteen separate courses were offered in the college department with an average enrollment of seven students in each class.

The summer session is able to care for the needs of a group of teachers who wish to further advance their educational program during the months when their own schools are not in session. Thus a group of students are helped by the school who otherwise could not be reached at all.

—Silas Hertzler, Director of the Summer Session.

The Bible School

The Bible School of Goshen College is intended to serve two purposes. First, it supplies courses in the Bible to the regular college curriculum, and second, it furnishes an independently organized two-year curriculum leading to a diploma in Bible. Again this year, as in previous years, a very large proportion of all students enrolled in the college took one or more courses in the Bible Department, although this year there are no majors in Bible in the graduating class.

The second function of the Bible School; namely, that of furnishing an independently organized course in Bible and allied subjects for the purpose of preparing Christian workers for service in the church, was not operative during the current school year. No students were enrolled in the Bible School proper. The lack of interest in this course has led to a reconsideration of the function of the Bible School and to new plans to make it fill a real place in the service of the church. Numbers of Mennonite young people are attending Bible Schools elsewhere and taking just such courses as Goshen College Bible School offers. They should be attending Goshen College.

Four years ago the Special Bible Term was reorganized as a six-year cycle of courses, giving in all a full year of work in Bible. Experience has shown that the cycle is too long and that very few students will be able to finish it. In view of this fact, as well as for other reasons, the College has reorganized the Special Bible Term into a three-year cycle of courses, each term running for eight weeks. By greater concentration it will be possible to accomplish almost the same amount of work as was accomplished formerly in six weeks. Next year, 1932-33, the last year of the six-year cycle will be given, with a diploma awarded to all those who have taken the five years of work. Plans are being made to enlarge the faculty for the Special Bible Term, to enrich the curriculum, and reduce expenses. It is hoped that these improvements will strengthen the Special Bible Term and increase the enrollment in the course.

The new plans for the Bible School call for enriching the curriculum, strengthening and enlarging the faculty, and reducing the cost of attendance. The Local Board has voted to eliminate the tuition cost altogether by giving the entire course free. An additional instructor has been added and additional courses will be offered, with an entirely new organization of the two-year curriculum for the diploma. As soon as possible a further enlargement of the school will take place. Details of the new plans will be announced during the summer and an increase in the effectiveness of the Bible School is confidently anticipated. There is a real need in the church for the service which the school can render.

The Special Bible Term

The Special Bible Term is one of the oldest departments of the program of the Bible School of Goshen College. It was begun in the earliest days of the Elkhart Institute and has been conducted annually for almost thirty-five years. During this long period of time a large number of the outstanding leaders and Bible instructors in the Mennonite church have served on the faculty, and probably over a thousand students have enrolled for the course. Not only has the Special Bible Term been of direct benefit in Bible teaching, but it has also inspired many a student to go on in his educational career. It has given a large number of students who could not attend a longer term of school for various reasons, the only opportunity they have had to get the benefit of systematic study and training in the Bible.

The enrollment for the current year was the lowest for several years, amounting to twelve. Several special instructors assisted in the course, among them being D. D. Miller, I. W. Royer, Ira S. Johns, and Edwin Yoder, in addition to H. S. Bender, S. A. Yoder, and W. E. Yoder of the regular college faculty. As usual the Ministers' Week and Christian Life Conference, together with a Sunday School Superintendents' Day were arranged for at the close of the Special Bible Term. These meetings were unusually well attended and much appreciated. They have become a permanent and valuable part of Goshen College's program of service to the Church.

—Harold S. Bender.

Mission Sunday Schools

One of the prime essentials of holding the interest of the group in a certain phase of activity is to have the group participate actively in its promotion. If that activity does not offer the means of expression and participation, interest will be at a low ebb. We have many opportunities for expression in Christian activities on the campus in our various group meetings. Many inspirational messages are enjoyed in which the program of Christ for the church is emphasized. The student is fired with zeal and enthusiasm to promote, advance, and propagate the Kingdom of God in the hearts of men. But if this zeal and enthusiasm finds no suitable avenue of expression, the result may be detrimental to the development of a well-rounded Christian Life in which all its phases receive the proper emphasis.

Not only would this lack of a suitable avenue of expression be a hindrance to wholesome Christian development, but it would also be a useless waste of zeal, energy, and enthusiasm that might well be put to the task of bringing a positive benefit to those who are within helping distance, and who are in need of the message we can bring to them.

These are the factors which brought into existence the Mission Sunday Schools on the North Side, and in East Goshen. There has been good interest in this work throughout the year, and there is much work to be done. Among the activities engaged in are the distribution of Gospel literature, weekly visitation in homes, calling on absentees, shut-ins, and parents of Sunday School children, and group singing in homes of aged, and others who are unable to get away from home.

The work is seriously handicapped because of the lack of a suitable building in which services could be conducted permanently. Because of the high rent, the building on the North Side had to be vacated recently. As yet no other suitable building has been secured. Temporary arrangements have been made to transport those attending at North Goshen to the East Goshen Sunday School. This causes a rather congested condition there and is not very satisfactory.

We are hoping and praying that this problem will be satisfactorily solved, and we believe that God will lead in the way that is best.

Through the liberal contributions of food and clothing by the College congregation, and other congregations nearby it was possible to give material assistance to many homes. At Christmas twenty-five baskets were gratefully received by the homes in North Goshen. Similar work was done in the other section. The opportunities for Christian service are many. Many of these people are sadly in need of employment, they are desperately in need of food, but more than either of these factors, they are in need of a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ.

—Ezra Beachy.

Special and Evening Classes

Goshen College has become interested in the so-called adult education movement. For the last three years courses have been given for part time students who are otherwise employed, either as teachers or in some other capacity. Three years ago the work began in a very modest way, for there were only a few students, with but a limited offering of courses from which to choose. Last year the interest increased, more teachers participated in giving the courses, and a considerably larger number of students took the work.

During the present school year the work has been made more attractive for teachers by having some of the classes meet on Saturday forenoon. Classes met during this year on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, and on Saturday forenoon. Most of the subjects offered were the regular three semester-hour courses. A few two-hour courses were given. The evening classes met from 7:00 P. M. to 9:30 P. M., each class meeting only once per week. The student was permitted to take as many courses as he had time to carry.

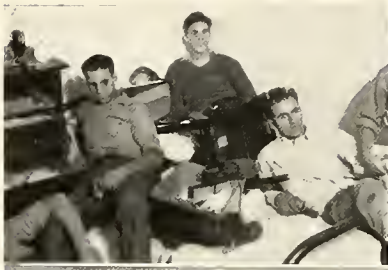

The following list indicates the variety of work from which the student was permitted to choose: Types of English Literature 211-12; Teaching of History 409; Teaching of English 409; Intermediate German 201-2; American History 201-2; Elementary French 101-2; Principles of Economics 301-2; Gospel of John 303; Still Life Drawing and Water color 105-6; Analytic Geometry 201-2; and Birds 202. In addition various commercial courses, not giving college credit met during several evenings a week, such as bookkeeping, shorthand, and typewriting. The instructors participating at some time during the year were: Guy F. Hershberger, John S. Umble, Lydia Shenk, Roland Yoder, Mrs. Amy E. Enss, S. W. Witmer, G. H. Enss, W. H. Smith, A. L. Springer, Verna Enss, and D. A. Lehman.

The work of the six-week spring term began this year on April 27th. Fifteen teachers whose school year was concluded, came for the work of this term, from Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana. Most of these students are taking three courses, giving six hours of credit. The work given for this period is as follows: The Family 403; Economic Geography 203; Clothing Selection and Construction 201; Physiology and Hygiene 308; American History 202; and Child Literature 111. Instructors participating in giving these courses, not previously mentioned are, Harold S. Bender, Miss Fyrne Miller, and U. Grant Weaver.

The total number of students listed as specials and evening students is 47. However the actual number is slightly larger since several who are taking the bachelor's degree either in June or August, 1932 were this year part time workers. These seniors had previously done almost sufficient work to merit the degree. With the work they could complete in this way during the year, plus the spring and summer terms, they are able to graduate with this year's class.

If there is sufficient interest in work of this kind, the College hopes to serve the teachers and others in the community, by continuing to offer such evening and Saturday courses as will suit the needs of those whom the college can serve.

The Young Men's Christian Association is a division of the Young People's Christian Association which is the largest as well as the strongest and most influential organization on the campus. The students have come to look upon this Association as the mother of many of its finest ideals and in no small measure of the college spirit itself. The Y. M. C. A. is the division of the Y. P. C. A. having at heart the interests of the men of the college.

The cardinal objective of the association is to bring every student into a genuine Christian experience and to help every student definitely to find his place in God's kingdom. To this end the association is continually and peculiarly adopting its program. It sponsors regular weekly religious meetings to discuss and hear discussed by Christian leaders of wisdom and experience problems and subjects of peculiar interest to the student mind. The association also arranges for Bible and Mission study courses. The association believes that the Christian life is not primarily one of hearing and discussing but that it is essentially a witness, consequently, it provides opportunities not only for students to go out to churches in the several surrounding states to aid in bringing the message, but also for definite witnessing for Christ in several nearby mission stations.

"To know Christ and to make Him known" is the motto of the Y. W. C. A. of Goshen College. To realize our motto we would remember and heed the words of the Psalmist, "Be still and know that I am God; I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth" (Ps. 46:10). "That we might know Him" we have purposed in His strength to lead each girl to faith in God through Jesus Christ; to help each one to form a more vital fellowship with Christ by means of Bible Study and prayer; and to promote a deeper feeling of worship through the devotional and prayer meetings. We would endeavor "To make Him Known" by promoting throughout the college a positive Christian spirit; and presenting the challenge of the world's needs so that each girl will consecrate herself and her substance to Christ, and His Cause.

Various committees working conjointly with the committees of the Y. M. C. A. contribute to this end. The Y. W. attempts to go deep into the hearts and minds of those on the campus and outside, and thus help find the way of making life richer and fuller for each one. To help each one to be able to say with Paul, "For to me to live is Christ"—that is our aim.

Perhaps one of the most important steps taken by the Intersociety Council since its organization was taken this year when the Articles of Agreement between the four literary societies were amended, making the Academy students eligible for membership in these societies. Because there were only eight regular student members in the Academy department this year, the Homeric society was too small to efficiently carry on literary work. The amendment states that all regular students of the Academy shall be eligible for membership in their respective societies upon the same basis as college students. This part of the Agreement is to remain effective until the Academy literary society is able to function again.

No literary program was given at Home Coming this year as the Council had previously proposed, but the two public programs by the Vesperians and Adelphians, and Avons and Auroras were given during the latter part of the second semester.

All members of the various literary societies are automatically members of the Students' Library Association, which is an organization with the express purpose of building up the college library by contributing new books. These books are selected from a list of suggested volumes by the Book Committee which is composed of a representative from each of the literary societies and a faculty member who acts as Chairman of the Committee. This year the Association added nearly ninety dollars worth of select material to our shelves. Special recognition is due to our faculty director, Prof. D. A. Lehman, whose interest, experience and versatility are an especial asset in the selection of proper books and in guiding the policies of the Association.

Student Lecture Board

The Student Lecture Board is composed of the chairman, Prof. S. W. Witmer, three faculty members, and a representative from each literary society. This Board selected such lecture numbers as appear to be most interesting, valuable, and profitable to the college community. The advertising of these numbers, the sale of tickets, and the provision of ushers was in complete charge of the students. This year the lecture course was again very interesting and well arranged.

The first lecture of the 1931-1932 course was given on October 9. Opie Read, novelist and journalist, spoke to us on the subject: "Human Nature." On November 6, Brayton Eddy, naturalist, humanized nature for us in his lecture, "The Personality of Insects." During Home-Coming Week, November 27, Frederick M. Snyder, journalist, gave his inspirational lecture, "The Lie About Tomorrow." The Welsh Imperial Singers, already favorites with the college audience, under the direction of R. Festyn Davies, came to us again January 11 to render their splendid program of chorus numbers and vocal solos. The final number of the course was an illustrated lecture on the astounding story of Radium, told by Luther S. H. Gable, Ph. T., radiologist and the lone survivor of a group of six chemical engineers who refined the first radium in America.

During the year the Mennonite Historical Society has been quite active. Four programs were presented. The first program consisted of an address by H. S. Bender on "The Distribution of Mennonites Throughout the World." The second program presented an address by O. O. Miller on "The Mennonite Colony in Paraguay." The third program consisted of a memorial service for the late John F. Funk, noted Mennonite church leader and publisher, who died January 8, 1930. At the fourth program, J. W. Shank gave an illustrated address on "The Mennonite Mission in Argentina." The Funk Memorial program attracted special interest because of the outstanding contribution of Bishop Funk to the Mennonite church. A. C. Kolb of Kitchener, Ontario, read a paper on "The Life and Works of John F. Funk," and D. J. Johns gave a talk on "John F. Funk As I Knew Him." The service was very impressive, and a large audience was present. In addition to its regular programs, the Society continued and enlarged its publication work. At the request of the College the Society assumed the responsibility of acting as publishing agent for the Mennonite Quarterly Review. The third volume in the Society series of publications appeared in December, 1931. It was a history of the Hutterian Brethren by John Horsch, entitled, "The Hutterian Brethren, 1527-1931, A Story of Martyrdom and Loyalty." Progress has also been made in classifying and cataloging the John F. Funk collection of manuscripts and books secured last year. An adequate fire-proof library is greatly needed to protect the treasures now in the Mennonite Historical Library.

Christian Workers' Band

ORIE MILLERPresident
MARY GINGRICHSecretary

These early Sunday morning meetings are not only a place to obtain inspiration, but a place and time when those interested in Christian work receive instruction and knowledge concerning the great cause of Christ and our work in relation to it. Much help was received from the various topics discussed, as "Needs and Qualifications of the Worker," "Types of Christian Work," "The Field," "Our Goshen Mission Sunday Schools," etc. Special messages were received occasionally from visiting ministers and, also, from members of the faculty.

The blessings and help from these meetings have been put into practice, and from the small task of distributing literature in North and East Goshen has arisen the two Mission Sunday Schools in these parts of the city. This affords an excellent opportunity for the members to get experience in Christian and missionary work. Solicitation of Sunday School members, visiting the sick, and singing songs are other phases of the work that is done.

"And this is life eternal, that they might know Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." Jn. 17:3. With this prayer of Christ in mind, the Band, with an increase of membership, is endeavoring to continue and expand the work begun that more people might be brought to a knowledge of Christ.

"Go ye therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world." Matthew 28:19-20. With this command and promise so vitally a part of every member we have tried as a group to prepare ourselves for any field of service to which we may be called.

The Volunteer Band consists of regular and associate members—those who have definitely planned on going to the foreign field, and those who have not made a definite decision but are deeply interested.

To keep in direct touch with the work which is being carried on by missionaries in foreign countries has been one of our aims. We have done this through correspondence, current news, and helpful heart-to-heart talks with some of the leaders of our church. Missionaries on furlough have contributed greatly to the interest of our meetings.

Not this alone, but a desire to be more like our Master; to live closer to Him and thus make our lives speak His love, has been the supreme motive of each one. Occasionally, away from the noise and rush of college life, in a secluded spot, we met as a group for special prayer. Never shall we forget those moments.

For anyone who is interested in Nature Study, and is desirous of profitably spending his leisure time, the Audubon Society offers a real opportunity. It is the aim of the Society to attract birds to the campus, stimulate interest in bird study, and to cultivate appreciation of bird life.

Professor Witmer's work in connection with the Inland Bird Banding Society during the last six years not only has furnished us with many interesting incidents of bird life, but also valuable first hand information of migration habits. Some work is also being done in photographing and making lantern slides of birds and their nests. This year the Society has sponsored an Illustrated Bird Lecture and numerous field trips with the purpose of becoming better acquainted with markings, songs, and habits of birds and learning to recognize them in their natural habitat. To stimulate interest in this phase of the work, two pairs of binoculars were purchased as property of the Society. Every Spring a bird-list is made to determine the earliest date of arrival of summer residents or transient migrants. The winter resident and permanent resident birds are also recorded. The making of this list develops into somewhat a contest—who will see the first arrival of each species. In order to attract more birds to the campus a number of bird houses have been put up. Feeding boxes to tide the birds through severe winters, and a bird-bath also serve this purpose.

Since birds are sensitively organized creatures and respond to the influences of their surroundings, by studying them we better understand the workings of natural laws. Since they are destroyers of weed seeds, and natural enemies of harmful insects they are of economic importance. Since more than any other animal, birds, through their songs, color, form, and power of flight, appeal to our love of beauty and of grace, if we can in any way, by our study of birds help them in their struggle for existence, we are rendering a real service to humanity.

Ski Club

GLEN R. MILLER	President
MERLE HARTZLER	Secretary-Treasurer
EZRA BEACHY	Custodian

The second year of the Ski Club's existence has been similar to the first in that the winter was exceptionally mild with very little snowfall. There was this difference, however, that this year there were no injuries such as cut hands, twisted ankles, and wrenched backs, even though there were just as many tumbles in the snow and just as many initiates.

One enthusiast in attempting to slide through several bramble bushes in a prone position emerged with a series of scratches, but most of the spills were nothing more. Mention of the Ski Club brings out two kinds of grins. Those never having "taken off" down a steep hill on a pair of skis or on a toboggan think of the fact that since the Ski Club has been organized the snow has ceased to come and they grin. But those who have been in the Bristol hills be it but once, smile to themselves in recollection of that exhilarating flight down a hill of snow. The smile broadens as the hill seems to swarm with the friends that tried and fell and tried again.

Inter-Collegiate Debating—Affirmative Team

The first debate for Goshen's affirmative team, that with Wheaton College on January 9, found the Goshen debaters still actively engaged in preparation for the regular schedule in March. On account of the early date neither team was at its best. The judge, Ben Stoner, of Plymouth, tied the teams on case and delivery and gave the decision to Wheaton on adaptability. Niemann Brunk, Otto Binkle and H. Clair Amstutz composed Goshen's team in this first debate. After this date Brunk was shifted to the negative team while Atlee Beechy was placed on the affirmative team on the basis of the showing he had made in the Freshman debates. On February 26 and 27 two affirmative teams participated in a number of practice debates at a debate meeting held at Manchester College. The first team, composed of H. Clair Amstutz, Otto Binkle, and Atlee Beechy, participated in debates against Evansville College, Hanover College, Indiana State Teachers' College, and Defiance College. The second team, Marvin Hostetler, George Luther, and Virgil Blosser met negative teams from Bowling Green Normal and Manchester College. The helpful contacts made with Christian students and teachers from other colleges, the valuable training received in public discussion, and the knowledge gained in the technique of debating more than repaid the squad for the time spent.

The first regular debate for the affirmative team was held on the home platform, March 4, with a negative team from Marion College. The judge, Ben Stoner, in a splendid critique, gave the decision to Goshen on case and adaptation and paid a high tribute to H. Clair Amstutz.

Goshen's affirmative met its next opponent at Franklin College south of Indianapolis on March 18. In some respects this was the least satisfactory debate of the season. The chorus trip had eliminated Otto Binkle and his substitute was ill. The eighty-mile trip fatigued the debaters. On the floor both teams suffered from over confidence. And to crown it all the judge gave Goshen two hundred thirty-five points and Franklin two more! On the whole, however, this team enjoyed a highly successful season.

Inter-Collegiate Debating--Negative Team

The negative team was prevented by illness from attending the debate meeting at Manchester College, February 26 and 27. They suffered an additional handicap in numbering only one upper-classman, Niemann Brunk. The other three members were Freshman. Two, however, had previous experience as high school debaters.

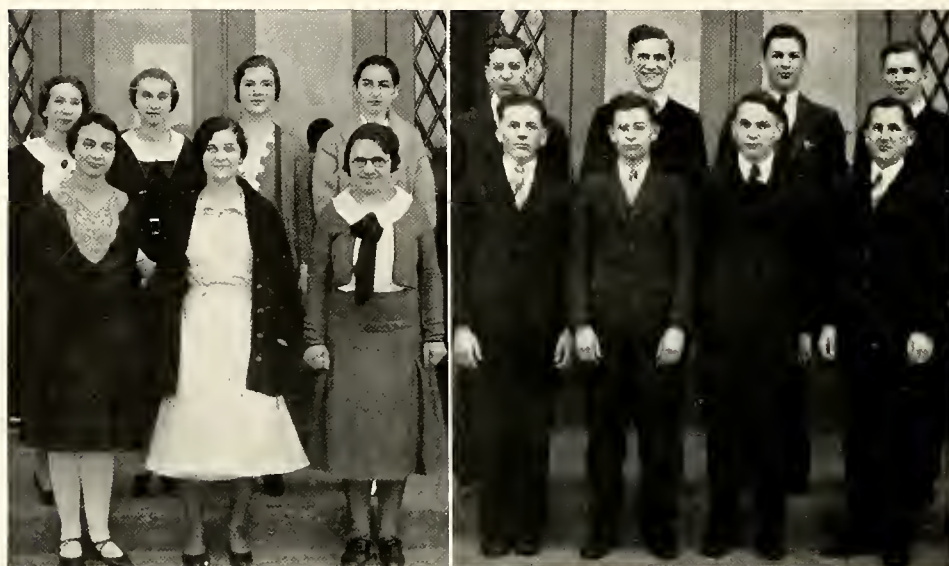

The first debate of the negative team was with Marion College at Marion, Indiana, on Friday, March 4. Marion College is a strongly evangelical school with ideals much like our own. The debate with Marion was close. Some of the Marion debaters seemed ready to concede victory to their opponents. But the judge, Senator Hall of Marion, decided otherwise.

In its next debate the negative met Manchester College first affirmative at North Manchester. Although this was scheduled as a non-decision debate, it was the cleverest and closest contest held off the campus this year. Niemann Brunk and Mac Cripe did exceptionally well. The Manchester coach and his team declared it their best debate of the season up to that time. A critique, given by Coach Graybill, of Warsaw, showed the teams very equally matched with Goshen excelling in delivery and adaptation.

The negatives' last debate was the best held on the local platform this year and the DePauw team was the best that debated here this season. The judge, Professor Claude Siffritt of Butler, gave the decision to DePauw although the margin of victory was slight. The DePauw men were clearly more at home on the question and manifested a greater mastery of material. The work of Niemann Brunk was again outstanding.

Although from the standpoint of victories won the season has not been highly successful, yet measured by the more important standard of character, development and practice in public speaking, the results are not to be lightly regarded. Seven Freshmen participated in from one to six debates. These, with H. Clair Amstutz and Otto Binkle, will form the nucleus of next year's squad.

Class Debating

While the major interest of the debaters this year was the intercollegiate program, considerable interest was also manifested in the two intramural debates. The Freshmen showed their interest in this field by having a debate among themselves, the question being the timely one of adoption by the several states of a system of compulsory unemployment insurance. The affirmative team, composed of Herman Smucker, captain, Robert Welty, Atlee Beechy, and Marvin Hostetler, alternate, contended that something more than the present hit and miss method of dealing with widespread unemployment is needed and argued that their plan is practicable as shown by the fact that a number of leading concerns are already using it. The negative composed of Mac Cripe, George Luther, Virgil Blosser, and Robert Shank, alternate, ably attacked the practicability of the plan. The critic judge, Mr. Paul Kendall of Dunlap, felt that the affirmative established and maintained their case, giving them the decision.

The only inter-class debate of the year was the Freshman-Sophomore women's contest. The time-worn but ever new question was, "Resolved; That the United States should give the Philippine Island an immediate promise of complete independence in ten years." Hope Stutzman, Marie Yoder, Vera Snyder, and Mary Gross, alternate, constituting the Sophomore team upheld the contention while the Freshman team composed of Leona Yoder, Marion Hamm, Mildred Schrock, and Ruth Ebersole, alternate, denied it. For the most part there was a fine clash of argument. The judge, Mr. Merle Shanklin, of Goshen High School, gave the decision to the negative. Both of these debates were close and were creditable performances.

PROFESSOR WALTER E. YODER*Director*

This year the A Cappella Chorus was composed of fifty-five members—a combination of the men's and ladies' choruses plus four other singers. Through the efforts and co-operation of the Director and members a successful season was enjoyed.

The high spots of the year were the presentation of the Oratorio "The Holy City" at Home-Coming, and the program at the Elkhart Presbyterian Church. Appreciation was indicated by the large audiences and the fine response to the numbers given.

Home Economics Club

EMMA ROHRER	President
VELMA LAPP	Vice President
IRENE LEHMAN	Secretary
AGNES WEAVER	Treasurer

The Home Economics Club has as its aim the development of a professional spirit among its members and keeping in touch with current topics in the Home Economics World. We try to find out the most modern ways of doing these things our grandmothers did so well with so little equipment. Not only that—we study the problems of the modern family from all angles. Home Economics is no longer primarily interested in how to make the best foods and clothing in the most economical manner nor how to apply the knowledge of art to making homes attractive, but is deeply interested in the development of the child and its relation to the home, the family life of to day, its problems and difficulties.

The club stresses mental, social and spiritual development of its members. It strives for deeper appreciation of our heritage—our Christian homes. It brings out the hidden beauty of those homes and shares it with others. The world today is searching and longing for something to relieve its suffering from broken homes—homes that no longer bind the family together as a unit. We need deeper understanding of the problems that have brought about this deplorable state.

The child of today needs our sympathetic guidance more than the child of yesterday. Since the home has failed in doing its duty that duty must be taken up by others. Today the Home Economics world is awake to the fact that the child's needs can not be measured by calories nor supplied by vitamins, but the question remains—how supply these needs? These problems challenge our keenest thought.

JOHN FOREMAN	Treasurer

Le Cercle Francais of Goshen College, opened its year in the Avon Rooms on September twenty-second, 1931, at an informal tea given by Miss Shenk. In reorganizing it was thought best to form a Petit Cercle for the first year students so that they might become better prepared for membership in the Cercle Francais. Jacob Sudermann was chosen president; Mildred Risdon, vice president; Mary Jones, secretary; and Robert Welty, treasurer. At the end of the first semester, the members of the Petit Cercle were initiated into the Cercle Francais. One of the projects of the club is to sponsor annually a concert by an outstanding artist. On Thursday evening, March 10, John Thut, tenor soloist, an alumnus of Goshen College who is at present on the teaching staff of the American Conservatory in Chicago, was presented by the Club in a public recital. The proceeds from this program were used in purchasing some needed equipment for the French Department and enlarging the French Library. During the Christmas season a public program was rendered in the form of a pageant revealing the French version of the story of the Nativity, after which the members of the Petit Cercle were escorted to the Avon rooms by the members of the Cercle Francais for a Christmas party. At the last regular monthly meeting on April 20, an interesting and comprehensive review of French Literature was given, followed by vocabulary and French spelling contests, French games, and refreshments. It was an "entire evening"—a French soiree.

Der Deutsche Verein

JACOB SUDERMANN	President
EZRA BEECHY	Vice President
BARBARA COFFMAN	Secretary
EZRA HERSHBERGER	Treasurer

October of 1931 became a red letter month when a number of students, interested in promoting appreciation of the German language, met and organized "Der Deutsche Verein."

The aims of this organization were listed in the constitution as follows:

- a. Cultivating fluency of speech in the German language.
- b. Arousing an interest in the writers and cultivating an appreciation of the rich literary productions found in the German language.
- c. Promoting an appreciation of German "Kultur."

Under the direction of Professor and Mrs. Gustav Enss, the "Verein" prospered and enjoyed the distinction of being the largest literary organization of the school, with a membership of forty-three.

The activities of the "Verein" experienced their climax in the annual Christmas program. Those who were fortunate enough to witness the presentation of the dialogue, "Herodes und die Weisen," written by Professor Enss, will never forget the picture which was so deeply impressed on their minds. We feel that this one program in itself has justified the existence of our organization.

The Goshen College Alumni Association takes pleasure in saying to the student body and constituency which the College represents, that the past academic year, while one of concern for the welfare of the institution, has, however, closed in a most satisfactory manner.

Many alumni have come forward nobly in responding to meet the financial needs of the College during this time of economic stress in the country. This action can be construed as gratitude for benefits received from the College in the past and as a pledge of loyalty for the future. This help has been gladly and humbly given. It will be a further pleasure to every alumnus to know that this action lends courage and determination to the administration and staff to continue cheerfully in the work they are doing.

The blessing of successful transition, through such times of stress, engenders not only gratitude, but a sense of obligation. This may be called a feeling of indebtedness to those who by financial and other sacrifice, have since the beginning of the College made its existence and growth possible. The faith of those who have so sacrificed becomes increasingly dear as one contemplates the devotion and heritage from which it springs.

The Alumni Association desires to be on record as consecrating its entire activity and objective to a genuine expression of gratitude possible only through loyalty to the faith which the constituency of the College espouses.

Athletic Council

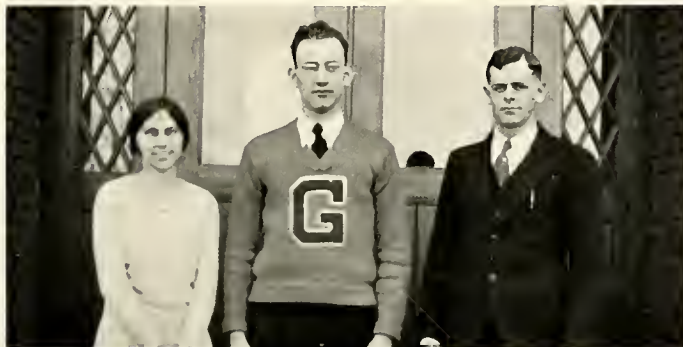

Goshen College realizes the need of wholesome recreation and physical education for its students. This is accomplished by the two Athletic Associations and the Physical Education Department.

The athletic program centers in the activity of teams and in individual competition in such a way that all those who desire to participate may have the opportunity. This system of intramural athletics permits the maximum number of students to be engaged in athletic activities. Awards are made as a means of stimulating interest and developing skill in the various activities.

The Physical Education class work consists of calisthenics, games, and drills in the fundamentals of physical education.

Men's Basket Ball

In the athletic program of Goshen College, the basket ball season is the most outstanding. Equal opportunities are given to those participating in this major sport on a competitive point system. The program provides for inter-society, inter-class, and varsity teams. Five inter-class teams were entered this season. The schedule of this sport was divided into a Round Robin tournament, and an elimination tournament at the close of the season. The closest and most exciting games of the year proved to be the inter-society games. The entire 1931-32 basket ball season was very successful.

Women's Basket Ball

The basket ball season of 1931-32 has been one of intense interest because all the teams were quite evenly matched. The class championship for the year was determined on the basis of games lost and won in the Round Robin Tournament, together with the rating received in the elimination tournament at the end of the season. The Seniors won first place and the Junmores won second place. In the elimination tournament the Junmores won first place from the Seniors by a very close score. Thus the Junmores and Seniors tied for championship this year. The honors have been divided between the two teams. The Avon and Vesperian teams both increased their strength this year, and had the two strongest basket ball teams in school. The first society game ended with a score of 34-18 in favor of the Vesperians. The other two games ended with final scores of 18-19 and 13-14 in favor of the Avons.

Baseball

Considerable enthusiasm has been shown this year for baseball and the comparatively new game of kitten or playground ball. Much interest was shown in kitten ball last fall, when fifty-seven men signed up to play the game. The candidates were divided as evenly as possible into five teams, which played a schedule whereby each team played four games. The games were all very close and exciting as was shown by the fact that three teams were tied for first place.

This spring we were very fortunate in that the city kindly consented to grade the infield for us, thereby making a nice smooth playing field, which means that from henceforth no alibis will be accepted from the infielders, due to "bad hops."

Thirty-two fellows signed up this spring to participate in the greatest of American sports. Due to the lack of a sufficient number of moundsmen and receivers only two teams were made from this group. A miniature "World Series" has been scheduled in which the winners of four games out of seven will receive the honor of College Champs; moreover, each individual of the winning team gets four points towards his letter, for each victory, whereas the losers get only two points.

In the few games that have been played thus far there was a considerable display of flashy fielding and some fairly good work at the stick. Some keen competition is expected between these two teams and likewise between the two society teams, which have three games on their schedule. If fair weather continues we shall have about two games for each of the remaining six weeks of school.

—Vilas Zuercher.

Tennis

Tennis at Goshen College was somewhat delayed this spring because of unsuitable weather. With the advent of warmer weather, however, came also the perennial rush to sign up for playing space at all open periods. The courts are in use from early morning until darkness halts the day's activities.

A perpetual tournament, in which there are forty men, is played each fall and spring. At the close of the fall season the four ranking players engage in a play-off for the College Fall Championship. In the spring an elimination tournament of the first sixteen men is run off. In addition to these tourneys the Auroras and Adelprians battle for team honors. The Adelprians with such players as Bradford, Yoder, George, and Miller present a strong threat to repeat last year's victory.

The 1931 spring tournament for men was won by Joe Bradford when he disposed of Glenwood Schertz in the finals. H. Nase and L. Kreider were the other semi-finalists. Bradford stroked his way to another championship in the fall of 1931. Albert Yoder was runner-up and Nase and O. Miller ranked third and fourth. The same four men are the outstanding contenders for the spring laurels.

The women's tennis program is conducted much after the fashion of the men's. A perpetual tournament is started in the fall and continued the next spring. Toward the close of the school year an elimination tourney is sponsored. Rose Adams, Freshman; Sarah Esch, Junior; LaVerne Yoder and Carolyn Lehman, Sophomores, are leading women players on the campus this year.

—Paul Zook.

Track

Outstanding interest has been shown by a large number of men in the track and field events. The group has made considerable progress, and a few records are in danger of being shattered, as indicated in the spring training.

The college records as they now stand will be very difficult to surpass since seven of these were broken in 1931. This excellent performance is partly due to the improved athletic field with adequate jumping pits and the fast quarter-mile oval. The final results of this year's work will be brought to light in the Inter-Society Track Meet and the Inter-Class Track Meet.

Soccer

With the approach of cooler weather came the call for soccer and its advocates. This was one of the popular minor sports of the athletic program, and was well supported by all. This was shown when forty men signed for the sport. This group was divided into three teams, and a series of games were played. The series proved to be very interesting and hard played. After some fine defensive playing and brilliant teamwork, team I, under the direction of R. Beechy, finally emerged the victor.

This sport proved to be a very good conditioner for the basket ball season, as indicated by the condition of the men when they reported for basket ball practice, and the result of the basket ball games.

Letters and Awards

Goshen College has no inter-collegiate athletics, but has a very efficient and beneficial system of intramural athletics for both men and women. The program consists of a group of major and minor sports, and centers on the activity of teams and individual competition. Points are given on the basis of competition in the intramural program, the total number of points earned by an individual is taken as the basis for awards.

An honor sweater is given to the man earning the highest number of points each year, two light-weight sweaters are given to the next two highest competitors, and the next seven men are given a letter "G." These awards are given as a recognition of achievement and represent a certain level of ability plus activity.

The point system adopted several years ago for the girls who are interested in athletics has proved a great stimulus to activity this year. As an incentive for better work in the regular physical education classes points are also given for grades above average. In order to win a letter, 400 points must be earned; 800 points are required for a numeral, and an additional 800 points must be earned for a sweater, which is the highest award given. This year several girls were able to earn sweaters; many letters and numerals were awarded, however.

The Athletic Associations sponsor both systems, and present the awards.
